DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1 - 10, drawn to an apparatus for producing parts, classified in class 83, subclass 531.
- II. Claims 11 - 23, drawn to a system for producing parts, classified in class 72, subclass 444.
- III. Claim 24, drawn to a system for producing parts having tolerances within 1000 nanometers, classified in class 72, subclass 405.01.0
- IV. Claims 25 - 28, drawn to a process for producing parts, classified in class 72, subclass 362.

Inventions I and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case: The apparatus can be made by a materially different process, such as that not utilizing one or more stamping stations.

Inventions II and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because: Does not require " a locating subplate having indexing features adapted to receive the stamping stations and to align the stamping stations relative to each other; and means for in-line machining a work piece before it enters the stamping stations". The subcombination has separate utility such as: Could be used in any stamping application.

Inventions I and III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case: The apparatus can be made by a materially different process, such as that not utilizing one or more stamping stations.

Inventions II and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions: Invention II is a system for producing parts and invention IV is a process for producing parts.

Inventions I and IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because: Does not require "providing a stamping system that is configured to produce parts having tolerances within 1000 nanometers". The subcombination has separate utility such as: Could be used in any optical fiber manufacturing application.

Inventions III and IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because: Does not require " providing a stamping system that is configured to produce parts having tolerances within 1000 nanometers". The subcombination has separate utility such as: Could be used in any optical fiber manufacturing application.
